

Global Issues in Context

The whole world is talking

Give researchers a unique and comprehensive worldview

The global perspective researchers expect from your library requires a balanced assortment of articles, reference materials, original documents, video, audio, maps, images, statistics and more to support their quest for current, authoritative and reliable information on the nations, peoples and issues impacting their world.

Global Issues in Context offers a unique collection of resources to engage and bring new understanding to complex issues

Government Researchers – facilitate in-depth exploration of issues impacting political and economic policy

Business professionals gain a worldview when traveling or doing business abroad

Law Firms proactively protect business interests by observing how issues are addressed by the world media

Tools to empower users

Global Issues in Context is one of a new generation of user-empowering resources that include:

- User interface that looks and functions like popular news sites
- Customizeable homepage
- Hundreds of English-language international newspapers for a truly non-U.S.-centric view
- Daily updates
- RSS feeds
- E-mail forwarding
- Podcasts
- Eight-language translation function

An interface as colorful and engaging as the Earth itself

Categories:

- Business and Economics
- Conflict and Diplomacy
- Environment
- Government and Politics
- Health and Medicine
- Science and Technology
- Society and Culture
- Women, Children and Family

Jump in to a global hot spot – surf to distant shores
Global Issues in Context features an interactive world map that quickly focuses the researcher on a region, nation or culture

Featured Video:
New videos posted weekly

Customizable World News
Allow your users to choose sources most relevant to them

Prepare for the challenge of a changing world

The world is changing at an almost incomprehensible pace.

Researchers in your community depend on you to provide powerful tools for understanding the state of the world today.

Global Issues in Context is a media-rich, content-driven, easy-to-use e-resource that spans the globe to bring essential and balanced information to readers seeking to understand crucial international issues and news headlines with a single search.

By tying together news, perspectives, reference, country information, primary source documents, videos, statistics and more, Global Issues in Context offers a rich analysis of critical issues ideal for your community of users.

Each page is a portal, ensuring a balanced worldview

Global Issues in Context not only focuses on broad issues such as human rights, poverty, global warming and nuclear proliferation; it also permits a close appraisal of more specific issues like product safety in China, disaster relief in Indonesia or genocide in Darfur.

Mine the Earth's richest resources for knowledge

Newspapers, magazines and academic journals: 400 English-language titles from the world's capitol and other key sources provide a comprehensive view

Reference Works: 80+ of the most respected reference titles from Gale, Macmillan, and U•X•L offer basic background information

Web sites: Links to government and organization Web sites, such as Amnesty International, Human Rights Watch, give researchers an opportunity to take action based on their findings

Primary Documents: A valuable collection of original sources and media – podcasts, speeches and more – bring context to research

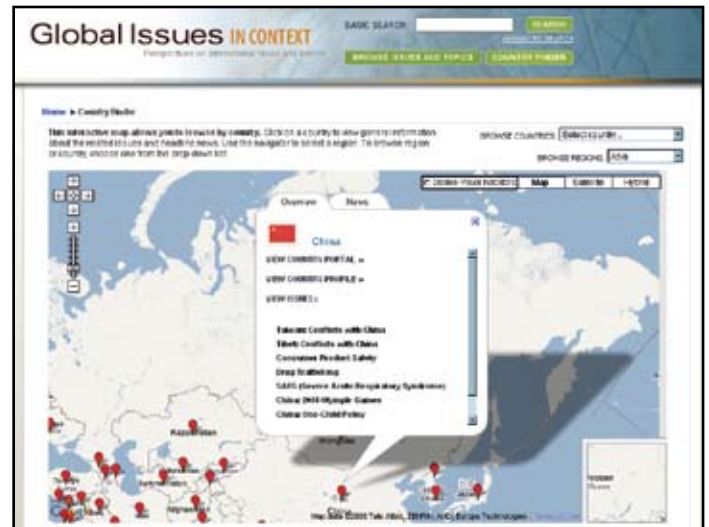

Statistics: Interactive and static graphs, tables, and charts providing empirical data to support results

▲ Nearly 200 Country Pages provide an overview as well as perspectives on the land, its people, political and economic climate, geography and more

▲ 250 Issues Pages, compiled by Global Issues in Context editors, provide an intellectual framework for understanding the topic and its impact around the world

▲ Easy-to-use Country Finder. Students can click on a country to view general information about it, related issues and headline news