

Directory of American Scholars

Comprehensive coverage of more than 30,000 notable scholars

Finding information on the scholars who make up today's humanities community can be time consuming, frustrating and unproductive. Until now, it meant consulting disparate and hard-to-locate sources — many of which led to dead ends. Now, The Gale Group's Directory of American Scholars (DAS) takes the guesswork out of researching American scholars. Consider the various ways DAS can be put to use in your library. Students seeking experts for research assignments or wishing to locate scholars in their chosen field will appreciate its convenient layout of pertinent facts. University faculty members and administration will refer to it when looking for collaborators; seeking promotion or tenure information; and verifying biographical information.

Every profile includes the following information: primary discipline; vital statistics; education; honorary degrees and awards; past and present professional experience; publications; concurrent positions; memberships; and mailing address. Since entrants must be currently publishing as a requirement for inclusion, DAS provides a publication history for each scholar.

Up-to-the-minute coverage

Originally published in eight editions by R.R. Bowker from 1942 to 1982, The Gale Group's first edition of the Directory of American Scholars continues the legacy of this important biographical reference. Completely revised and updated, the information in DAS has been scrupulously compiled through a telephone campaign to contact scholars; contact with member organizations; and database consultation.

Well-indexed volumes cover the humanities

Each DAS volume covers a specific area, making it easy for your patrons to focus their research. A geographical index within four volumes enable users to fine-tune their research, while an alphabetical and institution index in the fifth volume guarantees easy access to information across all volumes.

World of Learning 2000

A reference book on international scholarship

The World of Learning 2000 provides invaluable, up-to-date information on universities, polytechnics, colleges, learned societies, professional associations, research institutes, libraries, archives, museums and art galleries -- the whole spectrum of higher education.

The vast amount of information has been scrupulously revised and updated, providing authoritative and reliable information on more than 26,000 institutions spanning 180 countries. It also names more than 150,000 academic staff and officials.

The information in each entry includes:

- Address
- Telephone and fax numbers
- E-mail addresses
- Deans and librarians
- Date of foundation
- Administrators
- Student Population
- Libraries
- Publications

Some library entries include the number of volumes held and outstanding features of the collection. World of Learning 2000 also includes a 100-page index of institutions for easy reference.

National Faculty Directory

NEW EDITION Find names, departmental affiliations and institutional addresses of professionals in academia within this directory's alphabetic listing of more than 670,000 names and addresses of teaching faculty members at 3,600 American colleges and universities – and at 240 Canadian institutions that use instructional materials primarily in English.

The "Roster of Colleges and Universities," which precedes the faculty entries, provides a listing of educational institutions covered and includes the mailing address and general telephone number of each institution. The 2000 Supplement adds approximately 40,000 new entries.

Compiled from current class schedules and academic catalogs, National Faculty Directory data is compiled by CMG Information Services, the leading supplier of college faculty mailing lists. New to the next edition of the National Faculty Directory will be phone and fax information to over 75% of the faculty entries in order to give our customers better access to faculty members.
