

Find law and order at your public law library

Your public law library has what you're looking for: an inexhaustible collection of law resources, conveniently organized and easily accessible. Because while the world of legal information is changing rapidly, the practical techniques and strategies we use to conduct successful and effective law research haven't. Your public law library — with its depth of resources and ability to retrieve documents quickly — is unsurpassed when it comes to gaining exposure to a variety of legal resources.

Our mission is to provide you with access to our, law-specific resources, and to help you find the necessary information needed to complete your legal work in an efficient and timely manner. Our team of skilled professional, technical and clerical staff work together to meet the legal research and information needs of all our patrons. Not only do we provide our services to judges, attorneys, law firm librarians, paralegals, state and county law libraries and other members of the legal community, but to individuals representing themselves in legal matters who reside in the community as well.

And since we're part of a larger interlibrary system, working together to find information you require, we've maintained quite an impressive success rate. Our services include legal reference guidance, bibliographic assistance referrals and other law-related methods of research. To find out how we can provide some law and order to your case, visit your public law library today!
