

ATTENTION PARENTS:

HOMEWORK HELP — IS ON THE WAY!

Dear Parent:

In keeping with our commitment to provide the best educational resources, I'm eager to share the news about our latest enhancement for influencing achievement in our students. Now, you and your family can enjoy home access to the same electronic information available to your student at school. Through our school's database subscriptions from Gale® — the world's leading information provider — you can access the virtual library of information by following the instructions at the bottom of this page.

Please review these electronic resources and make them your first stop for help in completing assignments at home. You'll be pleased to find that Gale databases guide students quickly and easily to the right answers for assignments and general questions. You'll also find them valuable for your own personal information needs. And rest assured, Gale online resources provide a safe Web environment for your children.

For additional information on influencing achievement, visit www.gale.com/parents

Sincerely,

P.S. Clip and save the home-access information below for future reference.
