

Contents

Plan of the Series	xxi
Introduction	xxiii
Acknowledgments	xxvi
Permissions	xxvii
Works by the Brontës	3
Chronology of the Brontë Family	7
Overview of the Brontë Family	15
A Family of Writers	15
Maria Branwell to Patrick Brontë, 18 November 1812
Sidebar : “A Little Packet of Letters”—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, February 1850
Sidebar : The Rise of Patrick Brontë
An Excerpt from “Kirkstall Abbey”—Patrick Brontë, The Rural Minstrel: A Miscellany of Descriptive Poems (1813)
“The Advantages of Poverty in Religious Concerns”—Maria Branwell Brontë, circa 1815
Childhood and Cowan Bridge School	24
The Brontës at Thornton—C. C. Moore Smith
“From Under Cover of the Mask”—Elizabeth Gaskell
School for Clergymen’s Daughters—1824
Entrance Rules, &c.—1824
An Address to Children—W. Carus Wilson, from Youthful Memoirs (1829)
The Brontës at Mr. Wilson’s School—Elizabeth Gaskell
Sidebar : “Plain Useful Work”—W. Carus Wilson
Juvenilia	36
Branwell’s “Young Men”—Winifred Gérin, Branwell Brontë
Sidebar : The History of the Year—Charlotte Brontë, 12 March 1829
The Brontës’ Web of Dreams—Fannie E. Ratchford
Sidebar : “Offspring of the Moors”—Review, John Skelton, Fraser’s Magazine , May 1857
Sidebar : Thomas Bewick and the Brontës
Facsimile : Branwell’s title page for “The Wool Is Rising” 26 June 1834
The Brontës at Home and the Plan for a School	53

Impressions of the Brontës—Ellen Nussey
Sidebar: “This Land of Probation”—Patrick Brontë to Elizabeth Firth Franks, 6 July 1835
Sidebar: A First Visit to London
 Charlotte Brontë to Elizabeth Branwell, 29 September 1841

A First Publication 59

“Unaffected and Sincere”: Review of Poems by Currer, Ellis, and Acton Bell—William Archer Butler,
The Dublin University Magazine, October 1846
 Charlotte Brontë to the Editor of the Dublin University Magazine, 6 October 1846
 Charlotte Brontë to Thomas De Quincey, 16 June 1847
 “Simple, Genuine, and Characteristic”: A Look Back at the Brontës’ First Book—
 Review; John Skelton, Fraser’s Magazine, May 1857
Sidebar: Three Novels by the Bells—Charlotte Brontë to Messrs Aylott and Jones, 11 April 1846;
 Charlotte Brontë to Henry Colburn, 4 July 1846

The Bells Make Themselves Known 65

“A Serious Expedition”—George Smith
 Charlotte Brontë to Mary Taylor, 4 September 1848
Sidebar: “Two Rather Quaintly Dressed Little Ladies”—George Smith

Early Deaths and Lasting Fame 69

Charlotte Brontë as Currer Bell, “Biographical Notice of Ellis and Acton Bell,” 19 September 1850
 “English Female Genius”: Review of Wuthering Heights and Agnes Grey—The Athenæum, 28 December 1850
 “Haunted by the Same Experience”: Review of Wuthering Heights and Agnes Grey—George Henry Lewes,
The Leader, 28 December 1850
Sidebar: Tales for “Iron Nerves”—Harriet Martineau, Daily News, 6 April 1855
 “Our Long-Planned Excursion”—Jane Forster
 “The Family Who Made Haworth Famous”—Walter White, A Month in Yorkshire (1858)

Branwell Brontë 77

Early Promise 77

“The Pride of the Village”—Elizabeth Gaskell, The Life of Charlotte Brontë
 Branwell Brontë to William Wordsworth, 10 January 1837
 “High Aspirings”—Alexander Japp, De Quincey Memorials
Sidebar: “Clerk on the Leeds and Manchester Railroad”—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey,
 September 1840
 Patrick Branwell Brontë and His “Horace”—John Drinkwater, A Book for Bookmen: Being Edited Manuscripts &
Marginalia with Essays on Several Occasions
Sidebar: The Leylands and the Literary Legacy of Branwell Brontë

Branwell and Lydia Robinson 88

Branwell’s Projected Novel—Francis A. Leyland, The Brontë Family with Special Reference to
Patrick Branwell Brontë
 Branwell Brontë to Francis H. Grundy, October 1845

Sidebar : A Brief Inquiry—Branwell Brontë to the solicitor of the railway company, October 1845
Patrick Brontë to Joseph Leyland, 25 November 1845
Facsimile : “Lydia Gisborne,” 1 June 1846
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 17 June 1846
“‘This Mature and Wicked Woman’—Elizabeth Gaskell, The Life of Charlotte Brontë
Too Fond of Company”—Francis A. Leyland, The Brontë Family
“The Sudden Early Obscure Close”	95
Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 2 October 1848
Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 6 October 1848
Charlotte Brontë to George Smith, May 1853
“Not Seldom Wronged”—Francis A. Leyland, The Brontë Family
Anne Brontë	98
Anne on Her Own	98
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 15 April 1839
Diary Paper, 30 July 1841—Anne Brontë
Sidebar : Anne Brontë’s Music Manuscript
Diary Paper, 31 July 1845—Anne Brontë
Facsimile : Pages from Anne Brontë’s music manuscript book, begun 1843
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 1 March 1847
Agnes Grey	103
“Eccentric and Unpleasant”: Review of Wuthering Heights and Agnes Grey — The Athenæum , 25 December 1847
Sidebar : “Under the Shadow of Her Brother’s Disgrace”—Francis A. Leyland, The Brontë Family with Special Reference to Patrick Branwell Brontë
“Utterly Opposed Modes”: Review of Wuthering Heights and Agnes Grey — New Monthly Magazine , January 1848
“A Tale Well Worth the Writing”: Review of Agnes Grey — Douglas Jerrold’s Weekly Newspaper , 15 January 1848
The Tenant of Wildfell Hall	105
“A Morbid Love for the Coarse”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — The Spectator , 8 July 1848
An “Honest Recommendation”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — The Athenæum , 8 July 1848
Preface for the Second Edition of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall —Acton Bell, 22 July 1848
“Faulty Construction”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — The Examiner , 29 July 1848
Sidebar : Anne Brontë’s Poetry
“Unfit for Perusal”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — Sharpe’s London Magazine , August 1848
“Crude Though Powerful”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — The Literary World , 12 August 1848
Sidebar : “Secretly from My Own Heart”: Anne’s Belief in Universal Salvation—Anne Brontë to Reverend David Thom, 30 December 1848
“No Enlarged View of Mankind”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — The North American Review , October 1848
“Vulgar and Improbable”: Review of The Tenant of Wildfell Hall — Fraser’s Magazine , April 1849

Sidebar: “A Character Utterly Distinct from Her Brother”—Francis A. Leyland, The Brontë Family with Special Reference to Patrick Branwell Brontë

“A Slow Dark March” 120

Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 15 January 1849

Anne Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 5 April 1849

Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, circa 12–14 May 1849

Sidebar: A “Settled Longing to Be Gone”—Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 13 June 1849

Emily Brontë 122

At Home in Haworth 122

Diary Paper, 24 November 1834—Emily and Anne Brontë

Sidebar: “The Breath of Emily’s Nostrils”—Elizabeth Gaskell, from The Life of Charlotte Brontë

Facsimile: “Gondal Poems,” 6 March 1837

Sidebar: Emily Brontë’s Poetry

Diary Paper, 26 June 1837—Emily and Anne Brontë

Diary Paper, 30 July 1841—Emily Brontë

Facsimile: “The night of storms has past,” 10 June 1837

Sidebar: At Law Hill School—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 2 October 1838

At the Pensionnat Héger—A. Mary F. Robinson, from Emily Brontë

Facsimile: Emily’s Diary Paper, 30 July 1841

Sidebar: “Le Chat”—translation of Emily Brontë’s devoir, 15 May 1842

Facsimile: “Remembrance,” 3 March 1845

Diary Paper, 30 July 1845—Emily Brontë

Facsimile: Pages from Emily’s Diary Paper, 30 July 1845

“To Reconstruct Emily Brontë’s Own Story”—Lucasta Miller, The Brontë Myth

Wuthering Heights 136

Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 21 December 1847

“Fearlessly into the Moors”: Review of Wuthering Heights—The Examiner, January 1848

“Much to Fascinate”: Review of Wuthering Heights—Britannia, 15 January 1848

“Very Puzzling”: Review of Wuthering Heights—Douglas Jerrold’s Weekly Newspaper, 15 January 1848

“Only a Promise”: Review of Wuthering Heights and Agnes Grey—The Atlas, 22 January 1848

Sidebar: “Your Next Novel”—T. C. Newby to Ellis Bell, 15 February 1848

“Power Thrown Away”: Review of Wuthering Heights—North American Review, October 1848

Facsimile: “Why Ask to Know What Date, What Clime,” 13 May 1848

“A Hard, Short Conflict” 145

Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 7 December 1848

Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 23 December 1848

“The Stamp of High Genius”: An Assessment of Wuthering Heights as Currer Bell’s First Novel—Sydney Dobell, Palladium, September 1850

Facsimile : Charlotte Brontë's letter to William Smith Williams, 25 December 1848
A New Edition of Wuthering Heights	149
Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 27 September 1850
Editor's Preface to Wuthering Heights —Curren Bell
"Strands of Romantic Influence"—Lucasta Miller, The Brontë Myth
Sidebar : Robert Bridges's Tribute, London Mercury , June 1923
Charlotte Brontë	156
At Miss Wooler's School	156
"First in Everything But Play": School Days at Roe Head—Ellen Nussey, "Reminiscences of Charlotte Brontë"
Sidebar : Charlotte at Rydings—Ellen Nussey, "Reminiscences of Charlotte Brontë"
Charlotte Brontë to Branwell Brontë, 17 May 1832
Facsimile : Page from Charlotte Brontë's Angrian tale, "The Secret and Lily Hart."
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 4 July 1834
The Roe Head Journal, 1836–1837—Charlotte Brontë
Sidebar : "Nothing But Nonsense"—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, October 1836
"For the Sake of Imaginative Pleasures": The Desire To Be a Writer	172
Robert Southey to Charlotte Brontë, 12 March 1837
Charlotte Brontë to Robert Southey, 16 March 1837
Sidebar : A First Proposal—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 12 March 1839
Farewell to Angria—Charlotte Brontë, late 1839
"Trials and Crosses": Working as a Governess	176
Charlotte Brontë to Emily Brontë, 8 June 1839
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 30 June 1839
"Uncertain, Yet Perpetual Employment"—Elizabeth Gaskell
Sidebar : "A Wearing, Wasting Existence"—Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 12 May 1848
Brussels and the Pensionnat Héger	178
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, May 1842
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, July? 1842
Sidebar : The Protestant Cemetery—Mary Taylor to Ellen Nussey, 1 November 1842
Facsimile : First page of Charlotte's devoir "La Mort de Napoléon," with edits by Constantin Héger
Charlotte Brontë to Emily Brontë, 29 May 1843
Charlotte Brontë to Emily Brontë, 2 September 1843
Charlotte Brontë to Constantin Héger, 18 November 1845
Sidebar : "Governed by a Tragical Romantic Love"?—Frederika Macdonald, The Secret of Charlotte Brontë
Facsimile : Last page of a torn 1845 letter from Charlotte Brontë to M. Héger
Jane Eyre	185

-
- “The Story Quickly Took Me Captive”: Smith, Elder and the Publication of Jane Eyre—George Smith, “Charlotte Brontë”
- Sidebar*: A Plain Heroine—Harriet Martineau
- Facsimile*: Opening paragraph of the Jane Eyre manuscript
- Facsimile*: Page from the Jane Eyre manuscript with the line, “Reader, I married him”
- “A Book with a Great Heart”: Review of Jane Eyre—Atlas, 23 October 1847
- Sidebar*: “Exceedingly Moved & Pleased”: Thackeray Responds to Jane Eyre—William Makepeace Thackeray to William Smith Williams, 23 October 1847
- “A Story of Surpassing Interest”: Review of Jane Eyre—The Critic, 30 October 1847
- “A Book of Decided Power”: Review of Jane Eyre—A. W. Fonblanque, The Examiner, 27 November 1847
- “No Woman’s Writing”: Review of Jane Eyre—Era, 14 November 1847
- Charlotte Brontë to George Henry Lewes, 6 November 1847
- “All That We Require in a Novelist”: Review of Jane Eyre—George Henry Lewes, Fraser’s Magazine, December 1847
- Preface for the Second Edition of Jane Eyre—Charlotte Brontë, 21 December 1847
- Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 4 January 1848
- “Moral Jacobinism”: Review of Jane Eyre—The Christian Remembrancer, April 1848
- Note to the Third Edition of Jane Eyre—Charlotte Brontë, 13 April 1848
- Mary Taylor to Charlotte Brontë, June–24 July 1848
- “The Marks of More than One Mind and One Sex”: Review of Jane Eyre—Edwin P. Whipple, The North American Review, October 1848
- “An Anti-Christian Composition”: Review of Jane Eyre—Elizabeth Rigby, Lady Eastlake, The Quarterly Review, December 1848
- Sidebar*: The Queen Reads Jane Eyre—Queen Victoria, journal entries, 1858 and 1880
- Shirley* 208
- “The Germ” of Shirley—Ellen Nussey, “Reminiscences of Charlotte Brontë”
- Sidebar*: “Something about the ‘Condition of Women’”—Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 12 May 1848
- Facsimile*: First page of the manuscript for Shirley
- Sidebar*: “Stripped and Bereaved”—Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 13 June 1849
- “Not Another Jane Eyre”: Review of Shirley—Atlas, 3 November 1849
- “The Proof of Genius”: Review of Shirley—Albany Fonblanque, The Examiner, 3 November 1849
- “Ingrained Rudeness”: Review of Shirley—The Spectator, 3 November 1849
- “Originality of Mind”: Review of Shirley—Britannia, 10 November 1849
- “A Good Novel”: Review of Shirley—Fraser’s Magazine, December 1849
- Sidebar*: London and Thackeray—Charlotte Brontë to Patrick Brontë, 5 December 1849
- “An Artisan, Not an Artist”: Review of Shirley—George Henry Lewes, The Edinburgh Review, January 1850
- Facsimile*: Charlotte Brontë letter to Mrs. Smith, 9 January 1850
- Sidebar*: “An Author Not as a Woman”: Curren Bell Responds to Lewes’s Review—Charlotte Brontë to G. H. Lewes, 10? January and 19 January 1850
- “A Feeble Effort”: Review of Shirley—Westminster Review, January 1850
- Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 3 April 1850

Mary Taylor to Charlotte Brontë, April 1850
Sidebar : The Brontë-Thackeray Relationship—George Smith, “Charlotte Brontë”
Mary Taylor to Charlotte Brontë, 13 August 1850
Sidebar : At the Crystal Palace—Charlotte Brontë to Patrick Brontë, 7 June 1851
Sidebar : “Against the Grain”—Charlotte Brontë to Harriet Martineau, early October 1850
Sidebar : “A Lion out of Judah”—George Smith, “Charlotte Brontë”
Villette	232
Charlotte Brontë to George Smith, 30 October 1852
Sidebar : Blue Pills—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, January 1852
Charlotte Brontë to George Smith, 3 November 1852
Sidebar : Writing about Imagined Experience—Elizabeth Gaskell, The Life of Charlotte Brontë
Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 6 November 1852
Villette and Miss Brontë’s Visits—George Smith, “Charlotte Brontë”
“Almost Intolerably Painful”: Review of Villette —Harriet Martineau, Daily News , 3 February 1853
Sidebar : A Last London Visit—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 19 January 1853; George Smith, “Charlotte Brontë”; Elizabeth Gaskell, from The Life of Charlotte Brontë
Sidebar : “Always Engaged in Observing and Analysing”
“The Triumph of What Is Sterling”: Review of Villette —George Henry Lewes, The Leader , 12 February 1853
“Contempt of Conventions”: Review of Villette —George Henry Lewes, The Westminster Review , April 1853
“The Novelist of the Schoolroom”: Review of Villette —Anne Mozley, The Christian Remembrancer , April 1853
Sidebar : “Hunger, Rebellion, and Rage”: Matthew Arnold on Brontë’s Flaw—14 April 1853
“Admirable Portraits”: Review of Villette — Dublin University Magazine , November 1853
Sidebar : “An Unjust Literary and Historical Method”—Frederika Macdonald, The Secret of Charlotte Brontë
A Marriage of 276 Days	247
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 15 December 1852
Sidebar : “A Lonely Woman”—Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 25 August 1852
Charlotte Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 11 April 1854
Catherine Winkworth to Emma Shaen, 8 May 1854
Sidebar : “The Doubtful Future”—Charlotte Brontë to George Smith
Charlotte Brontë Nicholls to Catherine Winkworth, 30 July 1854
Charlotte Brontë to Margaret Wooler, 22 August 1854
Patrick Brontë to Ellen Nussey, 30 March 1855
Charlotte Brontë (“Currer Bell”)—Harriet Martineau, Daily News , 6 April 1855
Charlotte Brontë’s Funeral—Elizabeth Gaskell, The Life of Charlotte Brontë
Sidebar : “As Good as She Was Gifted”—Arthur Bell Nicholls letter, 11 April 1855
The Professor	255
Preface for The Professor: A Tale —Charlotte Brontë and Arthur Bell Nicholls
Sidebar : “A New View of a Grade, an Occupation, and a Class of Characters”—Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 14 December 1847
“A New Trial”: Review of The Professor — The Athenæum , 13 June 1857

“The Unripe Mind”: Review of The Professor—The Examiner , 20 June 1857
Sidebar : “All overgrown by cunning moss”—Emily Dickinson, circa 1859
The Cultural Legacy of the Brontës	261
Mrs. Gaskell’s Life of Charlotte Brontë	261
“Two Parallel Currents”: Elizabeth Gaskell— The Life of Charlotte Brontë
“A Remarkable Race”: Review of The Life of Charlotte Brontë —John Skelton, Fraser’s Magazine , May 1857
Sidebar : “Wasp Nest”—Mary Taylor to Ellen Nussey, spring 1856
Sidebar : “Unwonted Anxieties”: The Suppression of The Life of Charlotte Brontë —Sidney Lee, “Memoir of George Smith”
Charlotte Brontë and the Brontë Novels: Review of The Life of Charlotte Brontë —Margaret Sweat, North American Review , October 1857
Sidebar : “Not So Gloomy as the Truth”—Mary Taylor to Elizabeth Gaskell, 30 July 1857
Nineteenth-Century Assessments	279
Charlotte Brontë’s Lucy Snowe—Susan M. Waring, Harper’s New Monthly Magazine , February 1866
Sidebar : The Brontës’ Novels in the Nineteenth Century
Charlotte Brontë—Leslie Stephen, Cornhill Magazine , December 1877
“Troubled and Taintless”: Review of Emily Brontë —Algernon Charles Swinburne, The Athenæum , 16 June 1883
“Shakespeare’s Younger Sister”: An Assessment of Emily Brontë—Angus M. Mackay, The Westminster Review , August 1898
The Brontës’ Enduring Reputation	292
Account of the Opening of the Brontë Museum at Haworth, May 18th, 1895—W. T. Field, Brontë Society Transactions , December 1895
Sidebar : The Brontë Fascination—from Angus Mackay, “A Crop of Brontë Myths” The Westminster Review , October 1895; and “The Brontës: Their Fascination and Genius,” The Bookman , October 1904
Haworth, November 1904—Virginia Stephen (Woolf), Guardian , 21 December 1904
Jane Eyre and Wuthering Heights —Virginia Woolf, 1916
Sidebar : Charlotte Brontë on the First Dramatic Production of Jane Eyre —Charlotte Brontë to William Smith Williams, 5 February and 15 February 1848
“A Masterly Translation”: Review of Wuthering Heights —Howard Barnes, New York Herald Tribune , 14 April 1939
Sidebar : A Boxed Set of Classic Novels—Interview with Fritz Eichenberg
“Cleverly Distilled”: Review of Jane Eyre —Howard Barnes, New York Herald Tribune , 4 February 1944
The Ten Best Novels: Wuthering Heights —W. Somerset Maugham, The Atlantic Monthly , February 1948
Selected Secondary Works Cited	320
Checklist for Further Reading	323
Cumulative Index	329